 (featuring the GUNK Trio)

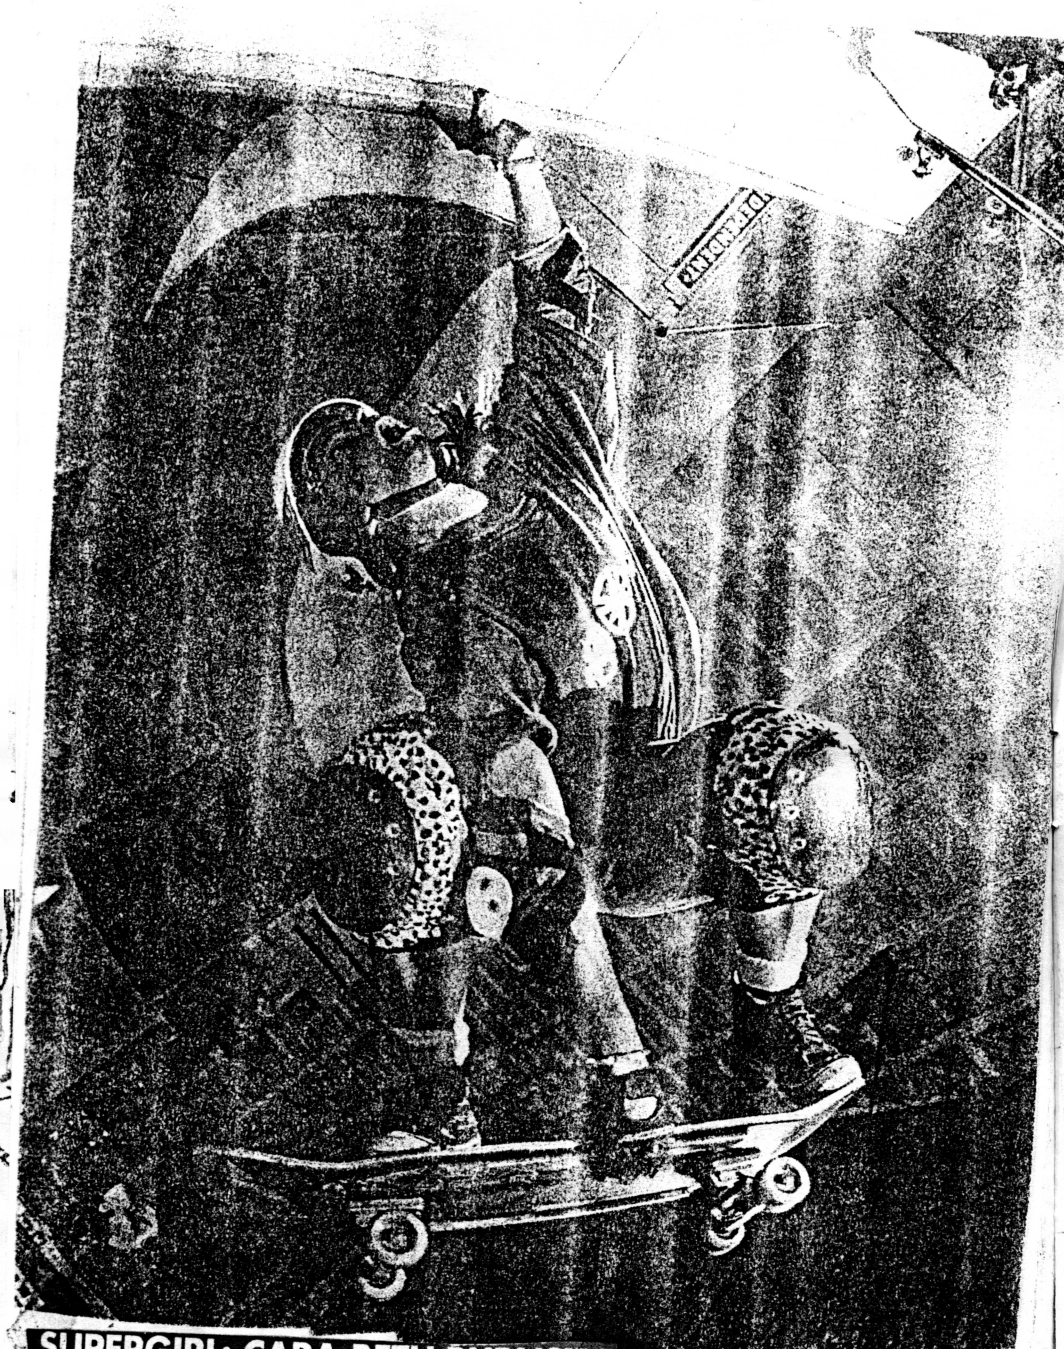

♥ This excuse is sure to work! Especially for girls. But actually guys you could use this one too it would make them want it also

So this is Seacha Clarke I don't know much about her, except that I'm PRETTY SURE THAT SHE IS SPONSORED BY VENTURE. I don't think she SK8'S much VERT, mostly STREET AND SO FORTH. I AM GOING TO WRITE TO VENTURE TO SEE IF THEY COULD SEND ME INFO ON HER. If anyone KNOWS ANYTHING ABOUT OR HAS PICTURES, ADS, INTERVIEWS etc. PIEEZ SEND A COPY OF TO! G.U.N.K. HOPEFULLY I'LL HAVE MORE INFO ON NEXT ISSUE. ☺ SK8!

SUPERGIRL: CARA-BETH BURNSIDE

This is the raddest, grooviest, gnarliest thing that I've ever happened to the SK8ing scene. This thing is Cara Beth Burnside She is SMALL recently THRASHER (Oct 91) did an interview with her and it was for the most part pretty cool! She has been SK8ing since the 70's (before I was born ~) she is the only female SK8er who is pro-ranks, which I think means she competes with the Big Boyz!

THRASHER

Cara Beth is Revolutionizing the Art of SK8ing! The only thing is that while I was reading the interview I got a slight feeling that she was a bit unsure or maybe insecure at her position being a female SK8er. For instance, she has this "thing" where she makes sure she has pink wheels and so on... It almost like she is afraid that SK8 boarding is taking something away from her, like feminine qualities or mannerism. It's almost as if she's not completely positive that SK8 boarding can be as much of a girl thing as a guy thing. Ya know I might be totally wrong though. Like she says, "I like to be more girlish to make that point. Here I am. It's pink and loud. If you don't like it good!" She seems to have a good head on her shoulders. I think she is aware of her "insecurities" though. Because towards the end of the interview →

The guy interviewing her asks her does she think girls are restricted in their physical ability to SK 8? And she responds by saying, "Guys and girls are different. If you really want to do something you just got to do it and set those standards and not give yourself limits because you're a girl. Girls might already have limitations set on themselves.

We're brought differently. There's type between female that imbedded in up dif - that stereo male and you have you." are not or buyer I think

If you a subscriber of Thrasher this issue is checking out, this girl is not only a excellent sk8er but an interesting person! I couldn't possibly give her enough credit! I want to meet her! She is so inspiring.

radical definitely worth

If anyone has any info, photos, Ads. on her please send a copy of it to G.U.N.I.K zine It will be well appreciated! ||||| -By Randalsha

Here again is another girl sk8er whom I know almost nothing about. But I did see her on an interview on SK8 T.V. and also on some SK8 video of which I can't remember the name of. I don't even know who she is sponsored by (if she is). But hey that's not that important. She been thrasher like twice as far as I know. Write if any body knows ANY INFO on her!

My theory is that women make natural anarchists, because they are outside of the system in so many ways—it's that unpredictable, wild female thing. —Ki M Gordon (Seattle, WA)

9. A SK8 BOARD IS GOOD FOR WHAPPING people over the head (especially people who say girls can't SK8)

9 1/2. You'll probably be a Natural at it!

HOW TO HANDLE OT

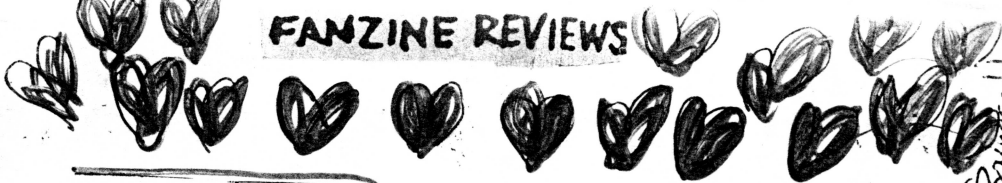

"If Guys ask you what trick you can do, make up real long fake names to tricks (that don't exist), Pause, then Smile"

Ne Tantillo (female sk8er in D.C.)

boredom (bōr'dəm), n. 1. bored state; tedium; ennui. 2. the scourge of bright, enterprising students. 3. a condition commonly experienced in high school settings.
